Community remembers fallen troops at annual butterfly release

More than 40 families participated in the 5th annual Survivor Outreach Service Butterfly Release May 26 at the Memorial Garden adjacent to Fort Lee's Army Community Service facility.

The event is an opportunity for families and friends to remember and honor fallen loved ones by releasing a butterfly in their memory.

Maj. Gen Darrell K. Williams, CASCOM and Fort Lee commanding general, and his wife Myra were among the many guests. Opening remarks were given by Col. Paul K. Brooks, Fort Lee garrison commander, who said he wanted each family member to know that Fort Lee stands with them.

"We are here to support you and to ensure you know we will never forget what your loved ones have given to our great country, and what you have given to our country," he said. "That sacrifice is what we memorialize today, and for everyone who has experienced that sacrifice, I want to say thank you."

Guest speaker Deborah Leach, a Gold Star Mother, recalled the day she received news about her son's death. Spc. Richard McNulty III., a military policeman, was killed in Afghanistan by an improvised explosive device on Mother's Day in 2012. Read full article

392nd Army Band plans farewell concert

Community members are invited to the 392nd Army Band Farewell Concert featuring returning alumni and special guests June 18, 3 p.m., at the Lee Theater.

The 392nd traces its history to the late 1940s. The band will be deactivated and downsized to about a dozen Soldiers this summer as part of the Army's reshaping efforts to meet future operational mission demands.

"The first half of the concert will feature spotlight performances and fun pieces by our current 30-member formation," said Warrant Officer Kevin L. Pick, the band's director. "For the second half, about 40 band alumni – some from the 40s and 50s – will join the current musicians on stage. The combined band will perform standard Army tunes. We anticipate having lots of fun and a great show of musicianship." Read full article
